CHAIR JOSEPH McNAMARA ANNOUNCES
BILL LYNCH RETAINED AS A RHODE ISLAND DEMOCRATIC PARTY SPOKESMAN
*Cites his Years of Experience in State Politics

WARWICK, R.I. — The Rhode Island Democratic Party today announced it has retained former state party chairman William J. Lynch as a special adviser and spokesman.

“I look forward to talking about ideas and initiatives put forth by Democrats to create jobs, strengthen our economy and move our state and nation forward, and to setting the record straight whenever Republicans misrepresent the facts or take aim at Rhode Islanders,” Lynch said.

Lynch, a partner at the Providence law firm Lynch & Pine, has been retained on a monthly basis beginning on April 1. His services will be paid for by the Rhode Island Democratic Party and the Democratic National Committee.

“Bill served for 12 years as chairman of the state Democratic Party and continues to be a passionate and well-respected advocate for everyday Rhode Islanders and Democratic values,” state Democratic Party Chairman Joseph McNamara said. “As a spokesman for the party, Bill will be a forceful voice for Democrats fighting to protect Rhode Islanders threatened by the Republican agenda.”
